Our grand old lady was rebuilt in 1901 housing the Corporation Arms (which later became the Farmer's Arms) and the White Cross Hotel. This was the former site of the Corporation Toll House, collecting levies from traders on their way to market in Lancaster.

In 2007 Daniel Thwaites invested substantially to develop the two pubs into one – known as Penny Street Bridge.

Refurbished in 2015 and re-named the Toll House Inn, we're proud of our long history and heritage, offering the warmest of welcomes to travellers and traders visiting our beautiful city of Lancaster.
